The Tale Of Two Pastors

There were two experiences in my life and association with two pastors which were highly unique, but also exceedingly relevant to what we now know today. And with these, there were experiences in their churches that uniquely paralleled this. Let me explain.

Somewhere around 1976, I had lunch with my pastor at that time. I was the director of education at the church, not in a fulltime capacity, and he met with me over lunch in that role. But while we were visiting, solely out of an unction within and not provoked by anything said or done, I told him that his time at that church was over and he needed to leave. Was I accurate? Indeed so, and he expressed that he already knew this. Confirmingly, he told me that he had already met with the elders and the man who was the spiritual apostle over the church, and told them this. But the spiritual apostle declined it and the pastor remained the chief pastor there.

I of course continued in my role as the education director, and it was after this that I received the clear dramatic experience and message from the Father that I was called into the pastorate and was to move to Dallas and begin a church there. The elders at the church disagreed with me and I put those plans aside and waited a year. By then they agreed and I moved to Dallas. And what is most relevant, shortly afterwards that church disastrously split into five splinter churches. By the word of Yahweh I had told the pastor that it was time for him to leave, but the apostle rejected this and that church was destroyed.

And what is unique and highly relevant is that this occurred shortly thereafter with a second pastor. During that same time period, I was associating with another church that was built around their work with men who had been on drugs. They had a Wednesday evening church service, and to help them I attended there and took the youth aside and taught them. I had a close association with the pastor, and on one occasion was having lunch with him. And once again I had the same unction that I had with the other pastor. I told him as well that it was time for him to leave, but he ignored me.

And what was the outcome for that pastor and church? For him even worse! After I had moved to Dallas I found out that he had a sexual relationship with the wife of a man who had come there for help, and that pastor was rejected and another man took his place. Also, his wife divorced him and took the children. His ministry and life were destroyed!

I thought it remarkably strange that this happened once again. And if he too had heeded my word, none of that would have happened. And I even wondered if this strange unction would ever happen again. And yes, it is indeed at hand, and is according to the passing over principle, where Yahweh passes over the first experience,

He passes over the second experience, and He takes the third. But this time it is not just a pastor, but relative to the entirety of Christianity! It is now time for you, Christianity, to resign! And if not, you and your ministry would fall to utter destruction and ruin. And those are not my words, for as it is written, “Unless those days had been cut short, no flesh would have been saved; but through the elect those days will be cut short” (Matthew 24:22). And it is not only relative to the works of man, but to Satan himself. It is time for him as the present head to go! More on this to be addressed.

And as I pondered these unique duplicative experiences, I realized that in both of those churches there were in fact two equally similar and most revealing and relevant events, snapshots of what is to be in the Bride work regarding the church whole today—rebuking it and calling it to repentance. And this is quite encouraging and relevant. Let us consider this second testimony.

In that church where I was the education director, it was a Charismatic church, and during a service the recognized prophet there stood up and gave a message that was a rebuke and correction for them (such as Christianity needs). The pastor I spoke of was not there that day, and his replacement, who lacked maturity, had a typical Charismatic response and replied to the message with something to the effect of not getting downhearted from the corrective message and proceeded with typical exuberant Charismatic singing instead. (Such is the state of Christianity.) But my spirit was deeply stirred and I could not take this response. What was needed was repentance, and not any more hoopla. I was seated in the front row to the left (and this was not some little church), and when the singing ended I proceeded to walk up to the podium uninvited and enthusiastically rebuked the church for the response to the corrective message given to them. Later that week the pastor called me about the matter and said that the prophet retracted what he had said and did, but I told the pastor that I would not withdraw what I had delivered. It was real, and the Spirit of God evoked a just and passionate response in and from me—even as He will do today!

Now for the other church pastor with the drug rehab program. On one particular Wednesday evening I was supposed to make an announcement with regard to the children. There was also a group of men there from another like work and they were there to sing. But the music was anything but godly. It was loud and heavy on the beat. Godly music is a trinity of melody, harmony, and rhythm, and boy did they have that backwards! In fact, I think this was at the beginning of rap. But whatever it was, it was loud and entirely offensive. After them, the pastor called me up to the front to make my announcement. But they got something more, and I never even made the announcement! Here again I passionately rebuked them, in this case for that music!

These two responses are not my normal way—in fact the only two such occasions—but in each case I was jealous with Yahweh’s jealousy, and expect that these are a preview of what is ahead before us. And it is interesting that one was a case of failure to repent, and the other was corrupt music—both being a common problem in the church today.

The other outstanding thing in all of this that has thus far been addressed, is that there were not only two events where wrong was being committed, but also there were the two pastors who did not heed my word to leave, resulting in division, failure, and loss.

So today, what is it that we are seeing here in these two like experiences that are taking place in the church whole, Christianity? Obviously, Yahweh worked both of these to evidence and speak to the two thousand years of corrupt and inept Christianity, and the necessity for it to come to an end. And as evidenced by these two pastors, if the church does not heed my words, the outcome will be ruin and loss. "My God, my God, why have You forsaken us?"

And even moreso through these experiences is the identification process that brings authority and ultimate fulfillment. In intercession, there has been the identification with the two thousand years of the corrupt and defiled church. And with this identification, we look to the Father to effect a redeeming and victorious third part of the church that, MOST gratefully, comes from Christianity being cut short and Immanuel come early and deliver man. Blessed be Yahweh! And the reality as well is that Christians have no idea whatsoever how desperate is the need for this redemption. They would thoroughly fail and be separated from Yahweh if He does not cut time short!

Furthermore, in the bigger picture, we see that when Yahshua left, the church came under the headship of Satan, the god of this world. He was the "pastor," having the right to rule over it and corrupt it. And the clearest testimony of this was Babylon, for Christianity is Mystery Babylon. It is the tower of Babel that "reached into heaven" (Genesis 11:4), and God is not pleased with it and must tear it down! Why so? Because the kingdom of heaven was given to man while in this cursed flesh, and what happened in the Garden of Eden is precisely what has happened in the church. The serpent appeals to the weaker vessel and the two eat from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, the kingdom of God, and they are put out of the garden—they DIE!

I ask you, where are the kingdom people for the last two thousand years? The Garden of Eden with Satan in it is the church that man has known for two thousand years. This Garden was given to man when Yahshua, while under the Nazirite vow (the kingdom), went into the garden and prayed—"My Father, if it is possible, let this cup pass from Me; yet not as I will, but as You will" (Matthew 26:39). And if the Father allowed for man in the flesh to have the kingdom for another 1,000 years and he seeks to rest on their eighth-day sabbath, it would be, "My God, my God, why have You forsaken us?"

But God must cut time short and hold the "pastor," Satan, the head of Christianity, accountable, and do what those two pastors refused to do when by the Holy Spirit I spoke to them to leave and did not do so. Satan must leave NOW! His allotted 2,000 years are over! His 2,000 swine have all gone to the sea of death, and he must now be held accountable! What will now happen to him? I told those two pastors that it was time for them to leave and they refused to heed me, and it resulted in disaster and loss! That cannot happen in the church today. Their "pastor," Satan, must be forcibly removed, and that is precisely what we see with natural Babylon. Yahweh enters into mystery Babylon and, as it is written (Daniel 5:30), the "king" is taken and "killed." Satan is cast into the abyss and is chained there for a thousand years (Revelation 20:1-3, 7). He must now pay the price for the church. As addressed here, Satan becomes a "savior" of man. Both Isaiah and Jeremiah extensively prophesied that Babylon would be utterly destroyed! But was it? No! Yahweh had mercy on Babylon and only one perished—the head, King Belshazzar! Likewise, Satan pays the price for what he has done to man for 6,000 years, and moreso to kingdom man for 2,000 years.

So, the handwriting is on the wall, and my invitation to you is to come out of Christianity, even as I told those two pastors to come out of their churches. And if you do not, you will have a like result and not ascend into heaven at the sound of the trumpet, but will remain in your flesh for another 3,000 years! “Come out of her, my people, so that you will not participate in her sins and receive of her plagues; for her sins have piled up as high as heaven, and God has remembered her iniquities” (Revelation 18:4-5). Come out of unclean and failing Mystery Babylon Christianity! We must be born from above!

Blessed be Yahweh,

Gary
